On behalf of JobsCentral, we would like to express our sincere appreciation for your presentation on "Personal Branding for Corporate Success". It was extremely informative, and the audience size and level of participation reflected how important these topics are to our job seekers. Your presentation was truly excellent and thoroughly enjoyed by all. Thank you for generously sharing your time, experience, and expertise with us. We are grateful for making our seminar such a great success.

“

I have attended both Sally's make-up and dressing styling courses and found them to be highly informative. I greatly appreciate her tips and knowledge-sharing on the latest trends and products. Her warm approach and natural poise draw the audience to her effortlessly — and though it was a four-hour session, she kept us thoroughly engaged and interested. I have also been faithfully using her recommended make-up products, which work wonders for my complexion and bring about a natural radiance. I have received many compliments from friends and colleagues, and will certainly be recommending Sally to anyone keen on enhancing their professional image.

“

I thoroughly enjoyed the "Dress for Success" workshop. It was engaging, interactive, and entertaining. Your presentation skills, eye contact, gestures, and voice projection came across as entirely natural — the stage is clearly your space. You captured the attention of the audience brilliantly. It was an eye-opening experience, especially for those attending a professional grooming session for the first time.

“

Thank you for bringing such eloquence and clarity to the ideas on corporate dress and business etiquette during the "Dress for Success" session. As I enter a new chapter of my MBA journey in Singapore, your insights were perfectly timed. I believe we can apply the methods you shared immediately — for professional events and career preparation alike. I particularly appreciated the personalised advice you gave using a student from our group as a model. Although it was a three-hour workshop, it was meaningful and highly practical, and I took away a great deal.

“

I attended your session on "Creating an Impactful Presence" and learned a tremendous amount. The knowledge and practical tips you shared — particularly on professional dressing dos and don'ts and business etiquette — were highly relevant and immediately applicable. I came away genuinely convinced of how important a strong professional presence is in today's competitive corporate landscape. Thank you for such an insightful session.

“

Thank you for the engaging and informative course. I have learned a great deal about the importance of professional image and dressing well, and found the business etiquette notes particularly useful. It has made a real difference. May your business continue to flourish as you help others build confidence and elevate their professional image.

“

On behalf of the organising committee, I would like to extend our warmest thanks for delivering such a fruitful and enjoyable "Social, Business & Dining Etiquette Workshop". The session was highly interactive and hands-on, and I believe all participants thoroughly enjoyed their time and took away many valuable lessons. It will certainly enhance their competitive edge in the professional world. We are also very grateful for the additional time you gave to address questions and facilitate the Q&A session.

I have attended two of Sally's workshops — one on hands-on make-up, and the other on social, corporate, and dining etiquette — and both were truly enriching experiences. I learned and practised essential skills that can contribute to success in today's professional world. What struck me most was how the knowledge gained is not just immediately applicable but lasting — we can continuously draw upon it to develop and refine our professional image. Sally is a consummate professional. She is passionate, patient, and attentive in offering customised guidance that speaks to each participant's individual situation. I left both workshops feeling genuinely enriched.

I would like to extend my thanks once again for such an educational and engaging session. Taking your course has affirmed what I have believed for some time — that investing in personal style and self-branding is genuinely worthwhile. The session was encouraging and inspirational, and you are a true inspiration yourself. The lessons on personal branding have already begun to influence how I think about professional image, and I am motivated to continue developing in this area. I know these insights will have a meaningful impact on my peers as well.

“

I attended your professional grooming and etiquette course across two semesters and have applied much of what I learned in interviews and daily professional practice. Your advice and guidance have proven invaluable. I have noticed a tangible difference — interviewers pay noticeably more attention, and I carry myself with far greater confidence. Thank you for the excellent workshops and the practical, lasting insights they have given me.

“

I have attended two of Sally's workshops and would like to share my experience of each.

Professional Grooming Workshop: I learned valuable details on caring for my appearance and gained a deeper appreciation for how pattern and colour choices in dressing can make a real difference. I look forward to continuing to develop my personal style.

Social, Corporate & Dining Etiquette Workshop: I learned a wealth of practical knowledge about professional conduct. The western set lunch arranged during the workshop was a particularly memorable and immersive experience, giving us a real sense of what a business lunch entails. The workshop has truly prepared me well for entering the corporate world. Thank you for your guidance.

I would like to thank you for conducting such an interesting and interactive lesson, enabling us to deepen our understanding of corporate grooming and business etiquette through the many practical insights you provided. The session was thoroughly enjoyable, and although it was only three and a half hours long, I benefited tremendously in my personal development. I now have a clear focus for building my professional image through the signature ABC framework. The course was concise and effective — covering a remarkable breadth of content in a short time. Thank you very much.

On behalf of the UNLV Hotel Association, I would like to thank you for being our guest speaker for the "Professional Grooming & Etiquette" Workshop. I believe all students had a wonderful time learning about professional grooming and understanding just how important it truly is. The workshop was interesting and informative throughout, and the way you tailored the content to our industry was very thoughtful and relevant. Your insights into the hospitality industry will serve us well when we step into our careers. The enthusiasm from the students after the workshop — many of whom continued asking you questions about their dressing and personal style — was a testament to how impactful the session was. It was, by every measure, a great success.
